

Flexible, modular and configurable pieces create environments that promote collaboration and social interaction or can be separated to allow for more quiet and uninterrupted time. Chelsea seating groups and tables are perfect for active learning environments or spaces where reconfiguration is common. Available in an infinite array of fabrics and other options, Chelsea's frame components are machined into puzzle like pieces on state-of-the-art CNC equipment to within the tightest of tolerances. During the assembly process, these components lock together while commercial adhesives and mechanical fasteners are introduced to further enhance the construction. This process results in the most durable, robust and stable foundation from which to build upholstered furniture. Sinuous wire springs are added, tied together and connected to tape lined clips which prevent squeaking. This improves the longevity and overall strength. Foam is commercial grade for comfort and resiliency. Fabric is upholstered to the frame with precision for a tailored fit and finish.
